GEO. W. MAUE LEAVES ESTATE WORTH $50,000

George W. Maue, retired Mokena farmer who died Jan. 4, at St. Petersburg, Fla., left an estate said to be worth approximately $50,000, consisting principally of farmland in Frankfort township.

The entire estate is left to Edward J. Maue, of Mokena, a brother, with the provision that within five years he pays certain bequests set forth in the will which was filed for probate.

Mrs. Amelia Cleveland of Martin, Mich., and Mrs. Ida Schmuhl, 617 Buell avenue, Joliet, sisters of the testator are to receive $5,500 each.

Three brothers, August Maue, 212 Sherman street, county superintendent of schools; Carl B. Maue, Monticello, Minn., and Albert O. Maue, of Mokena, are each bequeathed $4,500.

A nephew, Arthur F. Maue, of Orland, is given $200 and Francis G. Thiele, Chicago, a grand-nephew $100, the will provides.

These legacies total $24,800. The remainder of the estate goes to Edward Maue.

Settle With Wabash Railroad for $200

A petition asking for authority to settle a personal injury claim against the Wabash railroad for $250 has been filed in the probate court by Mrs. Antoinette Matthews of Chicago as guardian for her son, Wilbur C. Matthews, eight years old.

The boy was injured Sept. 27, 1924, in a grade crossing collision between a Wabash train and an automobile, one mile north of New Lenox. The youngster's father, F. H. Matthews, and a sister were killed, and Wilbur and his mother were injured.

The petition for leave to make settlement with the railroad company was filed by John H. Savage. It sets up that the liability of the railroad is doubtful as there is no proof of negligence on the company part and that Mrs. Matthews as guardian of her son's estate is willing to adjust the case for $250.

Judge Fred R. Adams fixed the time of hearing on the petition for 10 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Matthews is a sister of Mrs. Edward Vanduser on Maple street.

Auto Crash Brings Damage Suit

Trial of a personal injury in which Walter J. Carlson of Mokena is asking $2,500 damages of Harry Hendrickson, of New Lenox as a result of an automobile accident, was commenced in the circuit court Tuesday.

The accident occurred at the intersection of the Walsh road and the Lincoln highway in New Lenox Nov. 8, 1926.

Joseph Hoffman, Chicago testified that he was driving behind Carlson, going west on the Lincoln highway. Hendrickson was going south on the Walsh road, the witness said, and did not stop when he came to the Lincoln highway.

Hendrickson ran into Carlson's car, according to Hoffman, overturning Carlson's machine. Carlson is represented by R. F. Faulkner. Louis Lager and Herbert P. Folkers are defending Hendrickson.

Another Hat In Political Ring

Another candidate has tossed his hat in the political ring in Frankfort township and this one is George Hauser, who is a candidate for Highway Commissioner on the Republican ticket.

Mr. Kampe who is candidate for Supervisor on the Republican ticket is making an active campaign.

Mokena Couple Celebrate 30th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Werner were greatly surprised on their thirtieth wedding anniversary on Saturday, January 21. They were taken for a ride by Mr. and Mrs. Nick Yunker to visit friends, but instead were taken to St. Mary's hall where their guests awaited them.

Dancing being the chief amusement of the evening. At approximately ten o'clock the wedding march was played and a mock marriage performed much to the delight of the guests, at which time a purse was presented to them by their guests. Supper was served at midnight for over two hundred and fifty guests after which dancing was continued until the wee small hours of the morning when the guests departed wishing Mr. and Mrs. Werner many more happy anniversaries.

Republican Club To Hold Banquet

The Tinley Park Republican club is taking an active interest in Cook County politics. A meeting of the Republican Clubs of Bremen township was held Tuesday evening at Midlothian. J. C. Andres, Rudolph Hug and a number of other Tinley Parkers were present. Plans are now being formulated for a banquet to be held at the Saenger Hall, Tinley Park on February 25. Further particulars regarding this will be given later.

Stray Dogs Being Killed at Mokena

For a long time Mokena has been overrun with stray dogs. Many complaints have been made to the village authorities about this. The past week there has been a wholesale slaughter of dogs. A number of them were found dead the other morning from an over dose of bullets. Owners of dogs must take out a dog license for them or their dogs will be shot.

John Teason Passes Away

The death of John Teason of Palos Park on Jan. 5, was a loss to this community. Mr. Teason contracted pneumonia a few weeks ago and was recovering when he had a relapse which caused his death.

Mr. Teason was born in Mount Greenwood 56 years ago, and moved to the present Teason farm 3 years ago. Mr. Teason was a natural born builder, his home and outbuildings on his farm are the kind that will remain long, as his mark for the betterment of his neighborhood.

He was well known and respected and his kindly smile and friendship will be missed by many in Palos Park, Lyons and Oak Lawn.

TINLEY PARK VOL. FIRE DEPT. PAYS FIRE TRUCK INDEBTEDNESS IN FULL

The Tinley Park Volunteer Fire Department are feeling very proud over the fact that they have their chemical fire truck all paid for. At the recent masquerade which they held at Saenger hall they cleared enough to pay off the remaining indebtedness. They are to be congratulated on their fine success. Tinley Park has a fire fighting apparatus that few towns of its size can equal.

Letters Must Bear Return Address

Postmaster Christ Andres of Tinley Park has been notified that the Postal department has issued a new ruling that all letters must bear the senders name and return address. Mail Carriers have been instructed to notify their patrons of this ruling.

Many people mail letters, packages, etc., with out putting on their name and return address. Often this mail matter is improperly addressed and goes astray. If the mail matter has the senders name and address on it the mail matter can be returned to them other wise it must go to the dead letter office at Washington.

Palos Park Wants Streets Paved

Palos Park people "want to get out of the mud" but whether by means of concrete pavements or by some other kind seems still to be an open question, as both sides seemed to be pretty evenly divided at the open meeting held by the mayor, Edward M. Tourtelot, and commissioners at the community house there on Monday night.

While there was some majority of frontage in favor of the proposed concrete pavement, the board decided not to pass the ordinance until a later meeting in order to try and get the sentiment of those property owners who were unable to be present at the open meeting.

The ordinance on which the open meeting was held would pave about one and three quarters miles of the village street at a cost of approximately $115,000, as shown by the estimate of the village engineers Barker, Flavin, Sheets and Wallace. This would include the sections from West 82nd Place to 123rd and 127th streets; 90th from 120th to 125th streets; 88th from 119th street on Ridge Road south to 126th street, and 125th from 90th to 89th, the cost to be covered by a special assessment for to cover anticipation bonds, the payments to cover a period of ten years.

First Death Claim In Twenty Years

A number of years ago a camp of the Woodmen of the World was organized at Orland Park, and the members have moved to various parts of the country and no local camp is being maintained, yet the once active camp members keep up their local dues and have set the record of being pretty healthy. The first death claim of this camp for twenty years has just been occasioned by the recent death of a Mr. Nelson at Worth. This camp certainly has few rivals when it comes to long livy of members.

GOODINGS GROVE DANCES ARE PROVING POPULAR

The dances being held at Goodings Grove this winter are drawing a very liberal patronage and the young folks for miles around are pleased with the many novelty dances that are being put on. The dances have been popularized by persistent advertising in the News-Bulletin.

Mr. and Mrs. John Salihar entertained at dinner last Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jaklich, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Barkos and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ryan. The event being the birthday of Mrs. Jaklich. She was the recipient of a beautiful lamp.

The bunco given by the ladies of our town who are interested in the welfare of the children of the Oak Lawn Public school was well attended.

A surprise party was given Mr. and Mrs. Carl Larson at their home last Friday evening by their many friends.

Mrs. L. Schweser, Aged 72, Mokena Dies Suddenly

Mrs. Lawrence Schweser, aged 72 years, died quite suddenly at 11:30 o'clock Thursday noon at the home of her daughter Mrs. Henry Yunker residing east of Mokena. Mrs. Schweser has been in poor health for many years. She has been able to be about the house. Thursday morning she complained of having a severe pain and passed away about noon.

Mrs. Schweser is survived by her husband, Lawrence Schweser, one daughter Mrs. Henry Yunker, five grandchildren, two great grandchildren, one brother Philip Stork, Orange, California, two sisters, Mrs. John Cappel and Mrs. Geo. M. Wannemacher, both of Mokena. Mrs. Schweser has been living with her daughter for the past 19 years. Funeral services are being arranged for Saturday afternoon.

Louis Borges, 84 Passes Beyond

Louis Borges, aged 84 years, and a resident of New Lenox township for 47 years died at the home of his niece, Mrs. Wm. Jones in New Lenox township Tuesday following an illness of several weeks.

Mr. Borges was the last of the Borges family. He is survived by several nieces and nephews. Mrs. Borges passed away several years ago.

Funeral services were conducted from the home Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock with Rev. Glen T. Beatty of the Mokena M. E. church officiating. Burial was in the New Lenox cemetery.

Milk Strike For Feb. 1st Looms

At a meeting of the Milk Producers Association held in Chicago on Wednesday, the dairymen voted to go on strike within the next few days if the price of milk f. o. b. the farms is not raised from its present price of about $2.50 a hundredweight to $3.00.

Frank Holt, president of the Milk Producers Association has predicted that if the strike goes in effect by Feb. 1, about 75 per cent of Chicago's milk supply will be shut off. A large number of dairymen around Tinley and Mokena are members of the association.

EYE EXAMINATION IS IMPORTANT MATTER

Eye examinations for glasses have depended to a great extent on the answers given by the person being examined, says Dr. Foust of Foust & Nelson Optometrist, 731 West Sixty third St., Chicago. "With a new scientific instrument that we are now making use of, an eye examination can proceed without the doctor asking any questions of the patient. The outstanding feature of this instrument is that it can be used on illiterates, deaf mutes, foreigners and particularly children."

LINCOLN in SONG and STORY

"THE RAIL SPLITTER" BY MULLIGAN
IN GARFIELD PARK, CHICAGO

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON

IT IS doubtful if any other American—not even excepting George Washington—ever has been or ever will be made the theme of song and story as has been (and seems certain to continue to be) Abraham Lincoln. And when the expression "song" is used it does not mean a poetic composition set to music, nor does "story" mean a repetition of any of the innumerable anecdotes which have clustered around the name of Lincoln and to which, surprising as the fact is, new ones are constantly being added after all these years since he last walked the earth.

Instead the "songs" are the outpourings of tribute to Lincoln by some of America's best-known poets, who have been inspired by the greatness of their theme to utterances which have become a part of our national literary tradition. As for the "story"—men may repeat anecdotes of Lincoln and then, in a little while forget them. But the story which is told by enduring bronze or stone is one which cannot be forgotten. So each of the great number of statues which have been erected to Lincoln in many parts of the country has its story to tell—of the "Rail Splitter," the "Emancipator," the "Man of Sorrows," and of the great statesman "who belongs to the ages."

So long as men will speak of Lincoln so long will they be impressed by the marvel of his career, accentuated as it is by the contrast between his beginning in life and the place he now holds in world history. As for that beginning, picture the scene on

FEBRUARY TWELFTH, 1809

A squalid village set in wintry mud.
A hub-deep ox-cart slowly groans and squeaks.
A horseman hails and halts. He shifts his cud
And speaks—

"Well, did you hear? Tom Lincoln's wife; today.
The devil's luck for folks as poor as they!
Poor Tom! Poor Nance!
Poor young one! born without a chance!

"A baby in that God-forsaken den,
That worse than cattle pen!
Still, what are they but cattle? Cattle? Tut!
A critter is beef, hide and tallow, but
Who'd swap one for the creature of that hut?
White trash! small fry,
Whose only instinct is to multiply!

"They're good at that.
And so today, God wot, another brat!
A puking, squalling, red-faced good-for-naught
Spilled on the world, heaven only knows for what.
Better if he were black,
For then he'd have a shirt upon his back
And something in his belly, as he grows—
More than he's like to have, as I suppose.

"Yet there be those
Who claim 'equality' for this new brat,
And that damned Democrat
Who squats today where Washington once sat,
He'd have it that this Lincoln cub might be
Of even value in the world with you and me!

"Yes, Jefferson, Tom Jefferson. Who but he?
Who even hints that black men should be free.
That feather-headed fool would tell you, maybe,
A President might lie in this new baby!
In this new squawker, born without a rag
To hide himself! Good God, it makes me gag!
This beggar spawn
Born for a world to wipe its feet upon
A few years hence, but now
More helpless than the litter of a sow!
And—oh, well! Send the women folks to Nance.

Poor little devil! born without a chance!"
—Edmund Vance Cooke in the Chicago Evening Post.

Humble the beginning and humble the later years in Illinois where there is an everlasting memorial to him in

THE LINCOLN CIRCUIT

In Springfield, where his ashes lie,
A granite column rises high;
To Springfield, year on year, there wends
A caravan, that never ends,
Of pilgrims, eager, come to pay
Their homage to his sacred clay;
And yet methinks the true estate
Of Lincoln, humble, simple, great,
Is better sensed in village street,
Where once he loved to walk and greet
In heartiness his fellows all.
In mart, in courthouse, tavern hall,
Methinks his spirit lingers where
He lived and wrought. No sepulcher
Of stately grandeur, cold and dim,
Can hold the human heart of him.

The little towns, the county seats,
With dreaming squares and idling streets,
Plain homes of plainer pioneers,
Unsung, yet hallowed through the years
Because in distant times they saw

ST GAUDEN'S STATUE OF LINCOLN,
GRANT PARK, CHICAGO

STATUE BY FRENCH IN LINCOLN MEMORIAL,
WASHINGTON, D.C.

Him come and go to practice law.
Tell homely tales, crack homely jokes—
And neighbor with the common folks—
The little towns, the country roads,
The woods, the prairies, the abodes
Of humble men where malice falls
And charity for all avails—
These are the shrines that still enfold
The heart of Lincoln as of old.
Whose living legend runneth thus:
We loved him; he was one of us.
—E. O. Laughlin in the Ladies Home Journal.

And it was these people who gave him to the nation for its leader in the greatest struggle it had ever known, and those four years of anguish made Abraham Lincoln

A MAN OF SORROWS

They thought him but a clown, a tactless boor
Who filled his days and nights with quips and jests;
His hours were heedless as his purse was poor;
Without ambition, blind to worthy quests,
He dragged along his days; a human clod
Who scorned religion, mocked and flouted God.

How far they erred! A man of sorrows he,
Who bore within his heart a fatal wound.
Bereft of those he loved, the sympathy
He craved and hungered for could not be found;
The men with whom he walked from day to day
Knew not he trod a dark and lonely way.

A man of sorrows, born to pain and grief,
Yet would he not inflict his woes on men.
In jests and jokes he sought to find relief;
Thus gaining strength, he walked erect again.
Such was the man they called a wag and clown,
The byword—and the glory—of his town.
—Thomas Curtis Clark.

It was in the midst of that struggle that the nation realized the greatness of the man when they listened to the words which came from the lips of

LINCOLN AT GETTYSBURG

(From the "Gettysburg Ode.")
After the eyes that looked, the lips that spake
Here, from the shadows of impending death,
Those words of solemn breath,
What voice may rattle break
The silence, doubly hallowed, left by him?
We can but bow the head, with eyes grown dim,
And, as a nation's litany, repeat
The phrase his martyrdom hath made complete,
Noble as then, but now more sadly sweet:
"Let us, the living, rather dedicate
Ourselves to the unfinished work, which they
Thus far advanced so nobly on its way,
And save the periled state!
Let us, upon this field where they, the brave,
Their last full measure of devotion gave,
Highly resolve they had not died in vain!—
That, under God, the nation's later birth
Of freedom, and the people's gain
Of their own sovereignty, shall never wane
And perish from the circle of the earth!"
From such a perfect text, shall song aspire
To light her faded fire,
And into wandering music turn
Its virtue, simple, sorrowful, and stern?
His voice all elegies anticipated;
For, whatsoever the strain,
We hear that one refrain:
"We consecrate ourselves to them, the consecrated!"
—Bayard Taylor.

But before his great work could be finished, an assassin's bullet plunged a whole nation into mourning for

O CAPTAIN! MY CAPTAIN!

O Captain! my Captain! our fearful trip is done;
The ship has weathered every rack, the prize we sought is won;
The port is near, the bells I hear, the people are exulting,
While follow eyes the steady keel, the vessel grim and daring;

But O heart! heart! heart!
O the bleeding drops of red,
Where on the deck my Captain lies,
Fallen cold and dead.

O Captain! my Captain! rise up and hear the bells!
Rise up—for you the flag is flung—for you the bugle trills,
For you bouquets and ribboned wreaths—for you
the shores a-crowding;
For you they call, the swaying mass, their eager faces turning.

Here, Captain! dear father!
This arm beneath your head!
It is some dream that on the deck
You've fallen cold and dead!

My Captain does not answer, his lips are pale and still,
My father does not feel my arm, he has nor pulse nor will;
The ship is anchored safe and sound, its voyage
closed and done,
From fearful trip the victor ship comes in with object won!

Exult, O shores and ring, O bells!
But I with mournful tread
Walk the deck my Captain lies,
Fallen cold and dead.

—Walt Whitman.
And although history records that Abraham Lincoln died on April 15, 1865, he lives in the hearts of his countrymen as

THE FIRST AMERICAN

Such was he, our Martyr-Chief,
Whom late the Nation he had led,
With ashes on her head,
Wept with the passion of an angry grief;
Forgive me, if from present things I turn
To speak what in my heart will beat and burn,
And hang my wreath on his world-honored urn.
Nature, they say, doth dote,
And cannot make a man
Save on some worn-out plan,
Repeating us by rote:
For him her Old World molds aside she threw,
And, choosing sweet clay from the breast
Of the unexhausted West,
With stuff untainted shaped a hero new,
Wise, steadfast in the strength of God, and true.
How beautiful to see
One more a shepherd of mankind indeed,
Who loved his charge, but never loved to lead;
One whose meek flock the people joyed to be,
Not lured by any cheat of birth,
But by his clear-grained human worth,
And brave old wisdom of sincerity!
They knew that outward grace is dust;
They could not choose but trust
In that sure-footed mind's unfaltering skill,
And supple-tempered will
That bent like perfect steel to spring again and thrust.

His was no lonely mountain-peak of mind,
Thrusting to thin air o'er our cloudy bars,
A sea-mark, now, now lost in vapors blind;
Broad prairie rather, genial, level-lined,
Fruitful and friendly for all human kind,
Yet also rich to heaven and loved of loftiest stars.
Nothing of Europe here,
Or, then, of Europe fronting mornward still,
Ere any names of Serf and Peer
Could Nature's equal scheme deface;
Here was a type of the true elder race,
And one of Plutarch's men talked with us face to face.

I praise him not; it were too late;
And some innate weakness there must be
In him who condescends to victory
Such as the Present gives, and cannot wait,
Safe in himself as in a fate.
So always firmly he:
He knew to bide his time,
And can his fame abide,
Still patient in his simple faith sublime,
Till the wise years decide.
Great captains, with their guns and drums,
Disturb our judgment for the hour,
But at last silence comes;
These all are gone, and standing like a tower,
Our children shall behold his fame,
The kindly-earnest, brave, foreseeing man,
Sagacious, patient, dreading praise, not blame,
New birth of our new soil, the first American.
—James Russell Lowell.

Vanadium Once a "Cure"

That vanadium, today an element essential to the manufacture of steel, was once considered to have value only as a "medicine" is revealed by a writer in the Boston News Bureau.
At one time, according to this writer, it was considered a cure for many kinds of ills. The Flannigans of Pittsburgh then controlled vanadium.
They believed it contained valuable chemical properties. A quarter of a century or so ago they erected a big sanitarium in Cambridge Springs, Pa., at a cost of $500,000 or more. It was well patronized for a time, but the building was sold many years ago, and is now used for other purposes.

Word "Incurable" Hit

Dr. Ernst P. Boas, director of the Montefiore hospital, New York, declares that the word "incurable" should be removed from the dictionary. In the present state of medical knowledge, he claims, the pronoun-ment of the sentence "incurable" on a patient places a serious responsibility on the physician and implies a greater knowledge than he possesses. The acceptance of the verdict by the patient and the community not only cruelly quenches all hope, he says, but checks every further effort at physical rehabilitation. Such diagnosis is often mistaken and frequently an "incurable" can be restored to comparative health and economic usefulness.—The Pathfinder.

"Hello" Call

To aid their patrons in securing prompt attention on the telephone and in the interest of increased courtesy and efficiency, the Rock Island Lines have instructed all their employees to discontinue the use of the word, "Hello," and instead to give the name of the office when answering telephone calls, adding the name of the person answering the call. It is believed that this plan, when adhered to, will facilitate materially the use of the telephone and at the same time be greatly pleasing to those calling.

The instructions issued by G. D. Hood, Superintendent of Telegraph and Telephone, covering this matter are as follows: "Avoid the Word 'Hello'. In answering a call, give name of your department or name of the speaker, or both; for example, 'Telegraph Department, Mr. Brown speaking'. This facilitates the understanding of the party calling."

MOKENA

MOKENA M. E. CHURCH NOTES

Glen T. Beatty, Pastor.
Sunday School at 10:30 A. M.
Worship Service at 7:00 P. M.

Mr. Beatty was in Cleveland, Ohio, the first part of this week, as a guest of the Federal Council of Churches and representing the Oxford Fellowship at the Executive Committee meeting of the first national organization. He should bring back interesting and informational knowledge from this great meeting.

Next Sunday evening at the seven o'clock service, the sermon will be "The Trinity". It is the first of several studies of Christian Doctrine which the pastor hopes to bring during the winter and spring months.

A bunco and card party was held at St. Mary's hall Thursday night.

The Parent Teachers Association met at the school house Tuesday.

The Mokena Development and Hard Road Improvement Association met Wednesday night at the Mall Lumber Company office.

The movies at the St. Mary Hall are proving very popular and are being quite well attended.

Jacob Knapp is making good progress in the construction of his new house. It is one of the latest designs and quite an added attraction to Niethammer Avenue.

The Barenz cottage occupied by the Homerding family has been wired for electric light the past week. Clarence E. Beagley of Orland Park doing the work.

The two lads in a Ford coupe who captured a goose between the Harry Kohlhaugen and G. Fietterer residences on Marti Avenue just at dusk Sunday evening and drove away with it, might be surprised to know it was not a stray bird but was the property of that neighborhood, and sad to say they are known.

A motion picture show and orchestra entertainment will be held under the auspices of the Boy Scouts at the St. John church parlors on Friday evening, Feb. 3rd.

ENGAGEMENT IN CHICAGO NEARING THE END.

Vincent Youman's nautical musical comedy, which has been crowding Woods Theatre, Chicago, for over three months, is now nearing the end of the term allotted to it and must soon be moving to the other Cities in which it is booked. The success of this delightful production has been of the most pronounced kind and Chicago has responded to its delightful appeal with a warmth rarely extended to a theatrical attraction. "Hit the Deck" was most fortunate in having achieved a wide reputation by reason of its year's run in New York and this record was so splendidly confirmed by its Chicago opening, that Woods has seldom known what it was to have vacant seats at any of the performances. That the comedy was presented by an exceptionally fine cast and chorus was a most potent factor in attracting the crowds of delightful and enthusiastic play-goers, but in addition to this it should be mentioned that "Hit the Deck" is remarkable for its clean plot and dialogue and the popular theme on which it is based. No more welcome favorite comes to Chicago than piquant little Queenie Smith, who as Looloo, the keeper of the coffee house on the dock at Newport and the idol of all the sailor boys of the United States Navy, has established the most pronounced hit of her career, and Charles Purcell, also a familiar comedian in the Loop, keeps the story, the music and the dancing sparkling through his able efforts and his winning personality. Every theatre-goer has learned to admire the jolly nature of Tricie Friganza, who in this comedy has a part of rare appeal to the sense of humor of her auditors. The negro spiritual "Hallelujah," becomes an infectious melody as rendered in her inimitable manner and with the many funny bits of "business" with which she accompanies the quaint verses and chorus. If you have not yet had the opportunity to see "Hit the Deck" with its many pretty lasses and frolicsome "gobs", its fine stage pictures and its catchy music, don't let it leave Chicago without paying a visit to Woods. Both the Wednesday and Saturday matinees are at popular prices.

Triumph of Genius.

In 1547, when he was more than seventy, Michael Angelo began his greatest work—St. Peter's church, in Rome. He refused rewards, saying that he worked for the love of God.

Plan to Increase

Interest In Music

Walter Damrosch, conductor of the New York Symphony Orchestra will give the radio audience a "sample" of his plan to teach music to the millions of school children in the United States in three forthcoming broadcasts, it was announced today. The first program is scheduled for Saturday evening Jan. 21st, from 8:00 to 9:00 o'clock, the second and third for Saturday morning, February 10th and 17th respectively, from 11:00 o'clock until noon.

"Through the courtesy of the Radio Corporation of America and the National Broadcasting Company," said Mr. Damrosch, "I have been provided with the financial support and facilities which make it possible to try out a plan that has been in my mind for years—to demonstrate a plan for the teaching of music to all the millions of children of America. This demonstration will take the form of three broadcasts."

"My first experimental program on the evening of January 21st will be for the special benefit of educators, supervisors of music, teachers and parents, to acquaint them with my plan. I have divided this program into two parts, the first for grammar school children, and the second for high school and college students. During the broadcast I will give explanations of the compositions played, their history and general notes of interest."

"On February 10th, I will broadcast a morning program for grammar school children and on February 17th, another for high school students. These three programs will be samples of what I hope to see incorporated in the regular broadcasting schedule next winter and received by pupils in every schoolhouse throughout America."

"No means as yet," explained Mr. Damrosch, "has been found for the financing of my dream for next winter, but I sincerely hope that with the cooperation and interest of those who have been invited to witness my forthcoming demonstrations some may be found to finance the project."

Educators throughout the East are manifesting great interest in Mr. Damrosch's proposed demonstration according to Frederick C. Alden, President of the Schoolmasters' Association of New York and vicinity.

"Mr. Damrosch's dream of presenting music to the students of America in an interesting, and, at the same time educational manner, is far reaching in its ultimate possibilities," said Mr. Alden. "My organization is heartily in accord with his plan and we will do anything in our power to further his ambition. We have written to educational associations similar to ours throughout the country and some of them have advised us that they have revised their monthly meeting dates to correspond with the broadcast of the evening of January 21st."

At least three hundred prominent educators of New York who are members of or affiliated with the Schoolmasters' Association will witness Mr. Damrosch's experimental program at the National Broadcasting Company Building, 711 Fifth Avenue, New York, on the evening, according to Mr. Alden.

"This idea should prove of untold value to schools in out-of-the-way communities," Mr. Alden continued. "In the average school the music teacher must devote most of his or her time to some subject other than music in order to justify his or her salary. Therefore, these teachers cannot give music the attention that it deserves. If some organization can be formed to prepare in pamphlet form the programs and remarks of Mr. Damrosch in these broadcasts and distribute them to the schools the teachers will be in a far better position to present their subject and the musical standard in their communities would be raised thereby."

Mr. Damrosch's first "sample" program will occupy the time of the regular weekly RCA Hour broadcast—from 8:00 to 9:00 p. m., Eastern Standard Time, and the detailed program follows:

PART I—For children of the grammar schools—

1. Allegretto from Symphony No. 8 Beethoven.

2. Entrance of the Little Fauns. Pierre.

3. Scherzo from Symphony in B flat. Glazounow.

PART II—For students in the high schools and colleges.

1. Overture to "Midsummer Night's Dream"—Mendelssohn.

2. Andante from Symphony No. 5 Beethoven.

The RCA hour is heard thru WJZ New York; WBAL, Baltimore; WHAM, Rochester; WRC, Washington; KDKA, Pittsburgh; KWL, Cincinnati; WJR, Detroit; KWL, Chicago; WCCO, Minneapolis; St. Paul; KSD, St. Louis; WOC, Davenport; WHO, Des Moines; WOW, Omaha; WDAF, Kansas City; WHAS, Louisville; WSM, Nashville; WMC, Memphis; WSB, Atlanta; WEEI, Boston; WTIC, Hartford; WJAR, Providence; WTAG, Worcester; WCHS, Portland.

Doubtful Recommendations.
A London newspaper contains an advertisement of an old English home to be sold, which begins in the familiar style: "Twelve bedrooms, four sitting rooms, paneled dining room, large nooks, dower chests," etc., and suddenly breaks off from the catalog of ancient blessings with this modernism: "But, owing to electric light, no ghost." One hardly knows whether this exception will add to or detract from the value of the property.

FRANKFORT

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bettenhausen of Manhattan, at son, at Silver Cross hospital. Mrs. Bettenhausen will be remembered as Leona Hinspeter of Frankfort.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ebert of Green Garden have rented rooms of Mrs. Fred Baumgartner next to Mrs. Reimer's rooms.

Dr. and Mrs. Floyd Clark and son Jackie of Oak Park spent Sunday with the former's parents Mr. and Mrs. John M. Clark.

The C. B. B. club met with Mrs. Ebenzer Stephens, Friday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Christensen and daughter of Green Garden have moved into the Minger house, formerly the old St. Peter's parsonage.

The will of Henry Haake, who died December 21, was filed for probate Saturday. Mr. Haake left a will in which he directed that his widow, Mrs. Sophia Haake shall have a life interest in the estate.

After the termination of this interest the estate is to be divided equally among their four children. Three daughters, Mrs. Libbie Mundt Peotone, Mrs. Grace Genens, Mrs. Mable Vander Boegh and Ferdinand all of Frankfort.

To Observe Battle Anniversary

The 115th anniversary of the battle between the United States Brig Hornet and His Majesty's Brig Penguin will be broadcasted over KYW this Saturday January 28th 1928 at 9:07 P. M.

This will be an actual reproduction of that famous battle and will include all the commands issued, broadside firing, musketry, songs of the sea, organ and orchestra music.

It will be an unusual program well worth listening to.

Jekyll and Hyde of the Air

Little did William Shakespeare realize, when he produced his undying classics 400 years ago, that some day one man would take all the speaking parts in an entire scene and make himself heard in thousands of homes the country over. Anthony Wons, Shakespearean artist at WLS, the Sears Roebuck Station, Chicago, has been doing just this thing for the past two seasons with increasing success.

Mr. Wons' association with Shakespeare's works, which dates back years before the advent of radio, is a vital factor in the success of his radio broadcasting. He is thoroughly familiar with all types of Shakespeare's characters and portrays the cringing Shylock with the same fidelity of character that he does the dynamic Antony or the philosophical Hamlet.

It is interesting to know that a great portion of Mr. Wons' mail comes from school teachers who are using the Shakespearean broadcasts from WLS as supplement to the English course in the classroom with remarkable success.

Lighthouse Illumination

Most of the American lighthouses guarding ships against coastal rocks have now run the complete gamut of lighting in the last 200 years. They began with fish oil and then proceeded through sperm oil, rapeseed or colza oil, lard oil, vaporized kerosene with incandescent mantles and finally electricity upon which main dependence is put nowadays.

Farm Prices Take Upward Trend

The advance in prices of farm products from April to September, 1927, was one of the most remarkable in recent years, according to the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation. The values of the commodities sold by farmers, as compiled by the United States Department of Agriculture, rose from 25 per cent above the pre-war average at the beginning of this period to 40 per cent above pre-war at the end. Farm prices had been declining for two years when this advance started. In five months, more than half of the two-year slump had been recovered. September, 1927, prices averaged nearly 5 per cent higher than a year previous, showing a complete reversal of the trend.

The purchasing power of the "farmer's dollar," or the ratio of prices of farm products to wholesale prices of industrial products is back to 90 cents compared with only 83 cents in September, 1926.

The advance of 82 per cent in the farm price of cotton from April to September was the most important change in the market value of the individual commodities. An advance of 46 per cent occurred in both corn and egg markets. Cottonseed meal prices rose 33 per cent; apples, 26 per cent; veal calf prices, 9 per cent; barley, 8 per cent, and beef cattle, 5 per cent. Smaller advances were recorded also in the values of wheat, oats, flax, and wool. In contrast with these advances were the declines of 20 per cent in hay, 15 per cent in potatoes, 11 per cent in chickens, 7 per cent in sheep, 6 per cent in hogs, and 5 per cent in lambs, as well as smaller declines in prices of butter, rye, sheep and horses.

WORTH

GOODFELLOWSHIP CLUB PLANNING NOVEL PARTY

We have heard a great deal in the past about the good old barn dances that our parents use to have around this part of the country but with the passing of the horse and buggy days the barn dance has gone with it. The automobile has taken the place of the horse and buggy therefore it is altogether in keeping that the garage dance should replace the old barn dance.

The Goodfellowship Club of Worth is an organization that is keeping up with the times in community work are not to be behind in the matter of community recreation. They are planning a novel Garage dance. The old fiddle will be replaced by a live orchestra in the form of Kid Griner and his melody boys. The old virginia reel and barn dance will be replaced by the modern waltz, one step and what not. However the old dances will not be forgotten, an opportunity will be provided for them too. It will be a great community affair an opportunity for the whole family. Everyone is invited. The time is Saturday night February 11, the place Harold Ferrins Garage in Worth.

There is a great need for community recreation. The unique thing about the club it has been able to meet all sides of the community life.

SUNDAY NIGHT COMMUNITY SERVICES PLANNED

The Worth Community Church a church that has indeed proved itself a friend of the whole community is now endeavoring to meet another community need. It has long been felt that we should have a popular Sunday evening service that would attract the whole community and meet the community needs. The morning worship service has proven itself an outstanding service for those who desire a beautiful dignified service of worship. Many people who have visited the church say it is the finest service of worship they have ever seen.

The plans for the evening services will be quite different. It is planned to have special music each evening, a special feature in the way of an outside speaker, illustrated talks and open forums. Mr. Povemire who is to have charge of this service is selecting his committee this week. It will be put on entirely under the supervision of laymen. This has been done successfully in Lemont and Orland Park. Worth is not going to be behind in this. The laymen in Worth are as capable as in the other communities. Watch for other announcements concerning this service.

PLANNING PLAY

The Sunday Evening Club of the church are planning to give a play in the near future. They held a meeting Saturday night and assigned most of the parts.

Mr. Povemire is also planning to have the younger boys and girls give a play a little later. There is much talent here in Worth and it should have an opportunity for expression. Mr. Povemire has had much experience in directing plays and is very capable in this.

ORLAND

SUNDAY NIGHT COMMUNITY SERVICES GREAT SUCCESS

The Sunday Night Community services at the Orland M. E. church are proving a great success. Last Sunday night there was a big crowd out to hear Mr. Baker of Lemont give his talk on his experiences in the north woods. Every one seemed to enjoy it a great deal. The music was a great treat also. There was a special selection by the junior choir. This organization composed of the younger girls of the church is doing great work. All the young people of the community are invited to become a part of this choir. There was a real treat in hearing the musical trio composed of Miss Myerick, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Kay. Mr. Clarence Beagley lead in the congregational singing which all enjoyed.

These Sunday evening services are being put on by a committee of laymen. They are designed to meet the needs of the whole community regardless of creed or faith. All are invited.

In the future it is planned to have some special music and a special feature in the way of an outside speaker, open forum or illustrated talks. You can't afford to miss this it is a real treat just the thing you have been looking for.

Next Sunday evening the special music will be given by the Junior Choir and a duet by Mrs. Geo. Gee, Jr. and Mrs. Jennings. There will be an illustrated talk on "The Great Christian Hymns".

Every one is welcome to share in these services. It is hoped that many will contribute their talents in the musical line also in the special features of the service.

ADULT BIBLE CLASS

The Adult Bible class is planning a social night at the church Saturday January 28 to raise money for a new pulpit bible. They are planning a special program of songs and entertainment. Mr. Bishop of Worth will be there to give some of his humorous readings. Miss Haehnlein of Orland Park will also entertain. There will be refreshments and other added features.

ORLAND M. E. CHURCH NEWS

Morning Worship
Mr. Sanders will preach next Sunday Morning his subject will be "The Ways of Life". This will be one of a series of talks on life problems that confront us every day. He plans in these talks to meet the actual needs of the people in the community. With the new bulletins and our new service of worship which has been improved a great deal by the choir people are finding a real satisfaction in our morning service of worship. This service aims to meet the spiritual needs of the people. There should be at least one time in the week when people could come together to worship and find spiritual peace and power. If a religion is effective it must meet all the needs of life. It is that type of faith that Mr. Sanders is desirous of working out for the people here.

BIBLE CLASS NEWS

The Bible Class met last Thursday night at the parsonage. It was a very interesting meeting. They are taking up a study of the sermon on the Mount as found in Mathew chapter 5-6 & 7. They plan to meet Thursday night Feb. 2 at Mrs. Austin's to continue this study. Every one is welcome to attend.

LADIES GUILD NEWS

The Ladies Guild met Thursday for an all day meeting at the home of Mrs. James Creer.

Mr. J. Geistlinger, student minister who is teaching the Lutheran school at Orland Park, had charge of the services at the St. Peter's Lutheran church in Joliet, Sunday morning, January 22. These services were broadcasted over Radio station W. C. L. S., the Boston store.

The Lions Club held a special meeting Thursday night. The next regular meeting will be held Thursday night, February 2nd.

We Must Work Together

EVERY thoughtful citizen of this community is interested in its development and progress. There's no question about that! We all want our children to enjoy better homes, better schools, better parks—more agreeable surroundings and greater comforts.

We all want our town to keep step with its neighbors, to take the lead in civic affairs. So there is only one sound plan for us to follow:

We must work together to increase the wealth of this community by doing everything we can to encourage local business.

When you and your family patronize our advertisers—the stores and banks of our town—and keep your money in circulation right here at home, there is no power on earth that can prevent our progress.

SICK WOMAN SOON RECOVERS

By Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

"A neighbor advised me to try Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which she said had helped her so much. So I bought a few bottles and tried it out. It sure helped me wonderfully. I felt much better. My work was no longer a dread to me. If I hear of any one who is troubled the way I was, I will gladly recommend the Vegetable Compound to them and I will answer any letters in regard to the same."—Mrs. BERTHA MEACHAM, 1134 N. Penn. Ave., Lansing, Mich.

"I had been sickly ever since I was fifteen years old. After taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I got so I could do all my housework and I am in good health."—Mrs. MARIE K. WILLIAMS, Ketchikan, Alaska.

From Michigan to Alaska, from Maine to Oregon and from Connecticut to California letters are continually being written by grateful women recommending Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

The Compound is made from roots and herbs and for more than fifty years has been helping to restore run-down, over-worked women to health.

Are you on the Sunlit Road to Better Health?

Real Tragedy
The conversation had turned to a young man who had suffered a severe misfortune. "Oh, he'll console himself," said some one, "time heals everything."

"Not always," smiled Fanny Ward, the perennial beauty. "I once had the most violent sorrow of my whole life and time has not yet effaced it."

"What was that?" every one wanted to know.

"My first wrinkle," smiled Fanny.

Great Fame
A member of the Oklahoma bar tells this story:

A lawyer in Guthrie was examining a witness and put to him this question: What is your nationality?

"I am a Dane," replied the witness.

"Ah, yes; and when did you come over from Dane?"

The BABY

Why do so many, many babies of today escape all the little fretful spells and infantile ailments that used to worry mothers through the day, and keep them up half the night?

If you don't know the answer, you haven't discovered pure, harmless Castoria. It is sweet to the taste, and its gentle influence seems felt all through the tiny system. Not even a distasteful dose of castor oil does so much good.

Fletcher's Castoria is purely vegetable, so you may give it freely, at first sign of colic; or constipation; or diarrhea. Or those many times when you just don't know what is the matter. For real sickness, call the doctor, always. At other times, a few drops of Fletcher's Castoria.

The doctor often tells you to do just that; and always says Fletcher's. Other preparations may be just as pure, just as free from dangerous drugs, but why experiment? Besides, the book on care and feeding of babies that comes with Fletcher's Castoria is worth its weight in gold!

STATE CAPITOL NEWS

Hiram L. Williamson,
Secretary
Illinois Press Association

Illinois is far and away in advance of all other states in the Union in her total mileage of concrete and brick roads. While other states have a greater total of improved road, including sand, clay, shale, graded and drained highway, Illinois' total far outstrips her sister states as to cement roads. Illinois' total cement and brick roads is 4,494.66 miles, the brick roads in Illinois, as well as all other states, being only a small part of the total. Second comes Pennsylvania with 2,734.30 miles. Following these two leaders comes North Carolina, 1,817 miles; California, 1,659.10; New York, 1,470.90; Michigan, 1,434.70; Ohio, 1,434.05; Wisconsin, 1,353.70; Missouri, 1,319; and Maryland, 1,017.38. All states of the Union are preparing to push construction work during the coming year with a corresponding increase in their totals of improved highways. Motorists, now, when they tour over the country's 3,001,825 miles of highways will find that 133,616.20 miles are of the improved type, while the entire nation has 30,457.25 miles of concrete and brick roads.

Bids on approximately 100 miles of pavement, together with bridge and grading sections, a part of the program for 1928, will be received by the state department of public works and buildings in the capital city February 1.

The road sections are as follows:

Route 5, section 29P, Jo Davies county, .32 mile; Route 58, section 581, Kane-Cook counties, 8.48 miles; Route 58, section 582, Cook county, 9.12 miles; Route 64, section 129, Kane county, 3.20 miles; Route 76, section 101, Boone county, 7.40 miles; Route 78, section 104, Jo Davies county, 11.16 miles; Route 88, section 122, Bureau-Stark counties, 10.82 miles; Route 88, section 123, Stark-Marshall counties, 8.90 miles; Route 88, section 124, Marshall-Peoria counties, 9.64 miles; Route 88, section 128, Peoria county, .19 mile; Route 89, section 122, Putnam county, 4.92 miles; Route 89, section 123, Marshall county, 4.71 miles; Route 94A, section 117, Henderson county, 5.16 miles; Route 95, section 122, McDonough-Fulton counties, 6.05 miles; Route 96, section 123, Adams county, 4.75 miles; Routes 116 and 118, sections 113X, 103, 104, 105, Livingston county, 12 miles; Route 121, section 147, Douglas-Edgar counties, 6.22 miles; Route 121, section 148 and 149, Edgar county, 10.62 miles; Route 128A, section 101, Bond county, 1.11 miles; Route 130, section 111, Coles county, 8.77 miles; Route 150, section 127, Alexander county, 4.54 miles; Route 157, section 121, St. Clair county, 6.42 miles.

Bids will be received on grading sections in Clay, Carroll, Bureau, Lee, Adams, Coles and Wayne counties, and bridge section bids will be received for work in Cook, Boone, Stark, Bureau, Marshall, Livingston, Edgar, Coles and Hamilton counties.

On February 1, the department will also receive bids for the construction of a bridge across the Illinois river at Pekin. An appropriation of $400,000 for the construction of the bridge has been made by the legislature.

Mrs. Katherine Hancock Goode, member of the house of representatives from the Fifth senatorial district and a prominent Illinois club woman, died at her home in Chicago a few days ago.

Mrs. Goode, Republican, was twice elected to the general assembly and was active in behalf of a number of bills in which women of the state were interested. She became ill during the latter part of the last regular session and returned to her home, unable to participate in the closing scenes of the gathering. She was the wife of Dr. J. Paul Goode, of the faculty of the University of Chicago.

Mrs. Goode is the eighth member of the general assembly who has died since the convening of the last regular session of the house of representatives more than a year ago.

The following contracts have been awarded by the state division of highways:

Route 131, section 109, Cumberland county, pavement, to Gaines brothers, Fairland, Okla., $154,825.12.

Route 153, section 101, Washington county, pavement, to R. G. Flaigher, Oblong, Ill., $117,436.34.

Route 153, section 101C, Washington county, bridge, to Vincennes Bridge company, Vincennes, Ind., $6,070.

Route 131, section 108A, Cumberland county, grading, to Higgins Dyer and company, Granite City, Ill., $80,703.88.

Route 153, section 101B, Washington county, bridge, to Bethel & Son, Inc., Granite City, Ill., $14,182.

"Illinois Forestry" was the subject of an illustrated lecture which was delivered recently by Chief Forester R. B. Miller of the state department of conservation, before the forestry class of the Chicago Woman's club, 410 South Michigan avenue.

Accompanying his lecture on "Illinois Forestry" with special lantern slides, Mr. Miller told of the gradual depletion of the lumber supply in the United States, and of the country-wide movement to check the destruction by fire and improper lumbering methods.

Of the 71 county and other agricultural fairs in Illinois last year, participating in state funds, 48 have tentatively decided upon dates for their 1928 expositions.

The director of agriculture, Stillman J. Stanard, who also serves as secretary-treasurer of the Illinois Association of Agricultural Fairs, has received from fair officials the following registration of dates:

Other dates will be decided upon in the near future, and the intended premium offerings will be filed with the department of agriculture early in the year.

From a beginning where local druggists acted as instructors to the point where full time scientists took over the duties of instruction, the University of Illinois school of pharmacy has risen to the front rank of pharmacy schools in the country and has the unique distinction of being the first school of its kind west of the Allegheny mountains and the only pharmacy school in the state of Illinois.

From its humble beginning in 1859 to the present the guiding aim of the school has been to continually raise the standard of teaching and to raise the entrance requirements until only the most mentally capable students are admitted. This high ideal is rapidly being approached and as a result the enrollment is less than that of similar schools in other sections of the country.

The college was formally united with the University of Illinois on May 1, 1896, and has been conducted as the University of Illinois school of pharmacy since that time. On May 22, 1917, the school of pharmacy of Northwestern university was taken over by the University of Illinois and consolidated with its own school.

The school now occupies three large buildings facing on South Wood street, modern in every respect. There are at present 28 instructors connected with the school and 621 students. This number of students is an increase of 25 per cent over last year's enrollment.

Briggs house, Chicago, another landmark of importance in connection with the history of Abraham Lincoln, has passed out of existence, according to word just received.

Founded in 1851, the hotel was famous as the Chicago headquarters of a struggling country lawyer from Springfield, Abraham Lincoln. Jenny Lind sang from the balcony years ago and it was in this hotel, it is said, that Mary Todd Lincoln sought refuge after the fire of 1871.

Attorney General Oscar E. Carlstrom has given an opinion to State's Attorney Leslie Wilbourn of Alexander county, in which he holds that $6,900 in a state aid road fund obtained in a bond issue can be used in building a highway on the state aid road system. However, the opinion says, the money cannot be used if the road is not a part of the state aid system.

Plans are rapidly nearing completion for the annual observance of Abraham Lincoln's birthday by the Lincoln Centennial association, the program to be held in the afternoon of Saturday, February 11. The program will get under way at 2:30 o'clock at a meeting to be held in the Circuit court rooms of the Sangamon county court, to which the public is invited to attend. The second session, to be opened with a banquet, will be held at 7 p. m. at the ball room of the Hotel Abraham Lincoln. About 250 are expected to attend.

Lesson for January 29

THE GROWING FAME OF JESUS

LESSON TEXT—Mark 3:7-12; 6:53-56.
GOLDEN TEXT—"The common people heard him gladly."

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Followed by Crowds of People.
JUNIOR TOPIC—The Growing Fame of Jesus.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Why the People Followed Jesus.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Secret of Jesus' Fame.

1. Jesus Ministering by the Sea (3:7-12).

1. Why He withdrew. It was because of the murderous plotting of the Pharisees against His life. So violent was their hatred against Him that they conspired with the Herodians, whom they regarded as traitors to their nation and country, to put Him to death. Their opposition was aroused when Jesus claimed to have power on earth to forgive sins (2:10). It grew in intensity when He mingled with publicans and sinners (2:16), and was fanned into a violent flame when He set at naught their false interpretations of the Sabbath law (2:23-28). Criticism and harshness causes Jesus today to withdraw from our presence.

2. To whom He ministered (vv. 7, 8).

A great multitude, representing a wide stretch of territory. They came from Jerusalem and Idumea on the south, from beyond Jordan on the east, and from Tyre and Sidon on the northwest. Jesus was the magnetic attraction—the hero of the hour. The interest of the whole country centered in Him.

3. The result (vv. 9-12).

(1) So great was the pressure that lives seemed endangered by the thronging of the multitudes. Some came out of curiosity "when they heard what great things he did" (v. 8). Others came for physical benefit, to be healed of their diseases. To escape from the throng He ordered the disciples to secure a little boat for Him.

(2) The unclean spirits prostrated themselves before Him (vv. 11, 12). They confessed Him as the Son of God. They had no doubt about His deity. This testimony He refused to receive because (a) the time for His declaration was not yet ripe. (b) They were not the beings to make Him known. He would not receive tribute from such a source. He would be proclaimed only by those who loved and honored Him.

11. Jesus Ministering at Gennesaret (6:53-56).

1. Jesus recognized (v. 54). The people quickly recognized Him because they had witnessed His mighty works. The feeding of the 5,000 was doubtless still in their minds. Perhaps many of them had witnessed His works in Capernaum and nearby places. They had doubtless heard Him teach also. He was recognized wherever He went. When He rules in the lives of believers today, those who come into touch with them recognize the fact. They take knowledge of them that they have been with Jesus (Acts 4:13).

2. The people ran to see Jesus (v. 55). They did not go about this in a half-hearted way. Those who really come into touch with the Lord Jesus Christ have called forth from them unusual energy. The degree of reality of our contact with Him is expressed by our enthusiasm.

3. They searched the whole region for those in need (v. 55).

Those who were found to be sick and in need were carried in beds to Jesus. Those who have come to know Christ will go about earnestly seeking for the lost to bring them to Christ. It matters not what effort is required.

4. They were made whole by His touch (v. 56). The only touch which is needed for the healing of the human soul is that of faith. When the individual is brought into touch with Him by a vital and living faith, sin is vanquished and sickness and death lose their power.

Honor
Honor is like the eye which cannot suffer the least impurity without damage; it is a precious stone, the price of which is lessened by the least flaw.—Bossuet.

The "Yes" and "No"
You are what you are today because of what you were yesterday. You are the product of the "Yes" that you have said, and the "No"—Margaret Slattery.

Good Christians, Citizens
Whatever makes men good Christians makes them good citizens.—Daniel Webster.

Stepping Stones
Men may rise on stepping stones of their dead selves to higher things.—Tennyson.

Dad 113, Oldest Boy 80

Andrew Jokoff reared a family of 54 in Siberia and when one hundred and thirteen years old went to Moscow to ask for an old-age pension. In making his application he explained his "oldest boy" was eighty and teaching school at Omsk. Officials didn't think it necessary to get a report on each of the remaining 53 children and took the old man's application under advisement.—Capper's Weekly.

His Shiftlessness

"You know what a trifling, heedless sort of fellow my son-in-law is?" asked old man Buckover. "He's had rheumatism for six years or more, and as many as 'leven kin, including me, all of which have had it, kept advising him. And yet he has never took the remedies we suggest, and kept on fooling with Doctor Slippis, and doing no good at all. Dodburn such a shiftless feller, anyhow!"—Kansas City Star.

IDLE ISLAND

By ETHEL HUESTON

Copyright 1927 by The Bobbs-Merrill Co.
WNU Service.

STORY FROM THE START

On the verge of nervous collapse, due to overwork, Gay Delane, successful New York artist, seeks rest at Idle Island. She rents a cottage, the "Lone Pine," from an island character, the "Captain," and his sister, Alice Andover, "administrator." Gay finds the cottage is tenanted by an elderly lady, "Auntalmiry," who consents to move to another abode, the "Apple Tree." On an exploration of the island Gay, standing on the seashore, is horrified by the appearance of the drifting body of a drowned man, which she nerves herself to bring to the shore. A bullet wound in the temple shows the man to have been murdered. Gay makes her way to the "Captain" with the story. Returning with him to the shore, they find no body there, and Gay's story of the incident is set down to an attack of "nerves." Gay, unable to convince her neighbors of the truth, draws a picture of the face of the dead man, intending to send it to the authorities. She meets a stranger, to whom she tells the story and shows the picture. He asks her to let him take it, but Gay refuses. Next day Gay finds the picture has been taken from the cottage. "Rand" Wallace, wanderer, and considered something of a "black sheep" by the islanders, surprises Gay at household tasks. Gay's acquaintance with Rand ripens into affection. Rand leaves the island on business. Gay determines to stay for the winter. The stranger whom Gay had met the day of her discovery of the body introduces himself as Ronald Ingram. "Auntalmiry" tells Gay of her son, "Buddy," who has been missing for years. Rand is suspicious of Ronald Ingram.

"I was nervous that night—anybody would be! At dusk I was all jumpy nerves, hearing noises, seeing shadows. So I went down and stayed all night with Auntalmiry. Rand, I was in bed, and when she raised the blinds on this side of the house, toward the hill, you know, she said, 'Oh, you left the lights on.' I didn't, because I went down before dark. So I went over and looked, and there was a light in the window; now it showed, now it faded, pale and misty, not bright. And, Rand, I swear on my word of honor, that we saw—we both saw—a hand reach out from the darkness into the light, a hand long and slim, like his. And then the light went out, and the hand was gone."

Rand tapped his fingers thoughtfully upon her arm, his eyes dark, brows contracted. His lips were curiously pursed and rigid.

"And this is the strangest thing of all. When I came back the blinds were all down, though I was sure I had left them up. And, Rand, the sketch I had made of the body in the cove was gone."

Rand stared at her a moment, incredulous.

"You innocent! You gullible! You New York!" he shouted. "All that laid right out before you like two and two, and you couldn't piece it together, and see what was going on." Gay's lips parted wonderingly. It was curious of course, but she remained as she had been before, entirely puzzled.

Then his mood changed. He pulled her arm roughly. "What do you mean," he demanded hotly, "keeping all this from me? What do you mean staying in this house alone, with that gang of murderers hanging around, watching your every move, spying on you—"

"Rand!"

"Get your hat," he commanded, "get your hat and come with me. You'll have to stay with us. What do you mean, doing such things?"

Gay fell into his arms with choking laughter. "You darling," she said, "How adorable to have you order me about like that. But of course I shall do no such thing. I don't hold to obedience!"

Rand's implicit and troubled acceptance of her somewhat lurid story was sweet solace to Gay's sensitive nature, which had long grieved at the misunderstanding, levity and flagrant suspicions with which she was surrounded. But while she was pleased, she laughed at his serious view of the matter. Whatever of intrigue, cause for fear, had been on the island, it was now buried in the past. The self-conscious flush that rose to her cheeks when Rand wondered at Ronald Ingram's repeated appearance was sufficient explanation.

You must keep out of the forest, Gay. I don't like that Chink prowling about, and I'm going to find out what he is up to. You keep out of the forest, and keep your doors locked. Keep the Baby in good shape. Don't be afraid to shoot. If you hear a noise, grab it and fire into the air. He opened the drawer, and took out the pistol, to emphasize what he said. "No man expects a woman to hit what she shoots at, but a nervous woman is apt to shoot anywhere. So shoot, every chance you get, at every shadow, at every sound.—For heaven's sake, Gay, this is no protection to you if you don't keep it loaded."

"It is loaded," she said indignantly. "I always keep it loaded. I know an empty gun is—"

Rand broke open the barrel, and disclosed its empty chambers. Gay's lips parted, closed firmly, parted again.

Rand took cartridges from the box and filled it grimly. "I'll keep an eye on it for you," he said. "You shot them out weeks ago, the last time we went to the shore. And bragging about the protection of the Baby!"

Gay closed her lips firmly and said nothing. But she knew she had not emptied that pistol at target practice. On the afternoon of the day just previous, she had affectionately cleaned and polished the Baby, and loaded every chamber. Some other hand, not hers, had emptied that barrel.

CHAPTER VII

One day, toward the end of the month, when Rand had gone to the city by the early boat and was not present to witness the abjectness of her surrender to his love, Gay went bravely up to the Captain's door and told him she was still too ill and weak to return to the stress of the city; she felt it the part of wisdom to remain in the Lone Pine through October.

The Captain scratched the thin line of gray hair that outlined his furrowed brow.

"I allus put up the storm windows on the summer houses come October first," he said vaguely.

"Not the Lone Pine, not this year," she cried gayly. "You will have to wait until November. You wouldn't shut me up behind storm windows would you?"

"But I allus do put them up come first of October," he persisted.

Then Alice Andover breezed in, smiling good cheer, a little out of breath.

"I saw you coming up the hill," she said. "I suppose you are off to Broad way, like all our summer birds of Paradise. It is only we drab and somber native sparrows who brave the island winters."

When Gay explained that she wished to continue another month Alice Andover fairly radiated satisfaction. "You will love the island in October, my dear. The summer color is nice, yes, but the island without them is a different place, a dearer place—not so gay, but finer. A little heaven, a little paradise. We settle down. We have time for things. We talk, we live, we have leisure for thought, for feeling; after the hectic summer we draw a deep breath." And sulking the action to the word, she breathed so deeply she quite choked

Moliere Unhappy in His Choice of Mate

Moliere, the great French dramatist, was for a long time in love with Madeleine Bejart, who had accompanied him on his provincial tours, but when he married his bride was Armande, a younger sister of Madeleine.

Armande was twenty years old and Moliere was forty. She was an actress like her sister, and while she was fascinating she was not exactly beautiful. Though it is difficult to get at the truth of Moliere's married life, it is known that Moliere was not very happy. Undoubtedly his wife aroused his jealousy by her eagerness for admiration and her enjoyment of flirtations.

But whether he had deep reason for jealousy, it is impossible to be sure, though many biographers have attacked Armande's character. Three children were born, but Moliere and his wife failed to get on well together and

Predicts Earth Will Stop

If the earth continues to slow up in its rotation, Doctor Crommelin, English astronomer, says it will cease to rotate in a "few millions of years," owing to the friction of the tides, according to Capper's Weekly. When that happens one-half of the world will be in sunshine and the other half in perpetual darkness—anything but a pleasant situation. But that needn't bother us now. Besides, there is a bare possibility the doctor may be a few million years off in his calculations.

upon her sentiment, and the Captain chuckled slyly before he took advantage of the moment to interpolate plaintively:

"But I allus do put up the storm windows on the summer houses come October first."

And on the morning of October first, Gay, wakening early, was conscious of a confusion of sounds upon her hilltop, a sound of trundling, a sound of thudding, muffled swearing in a high-pitched, gentle, unprofane little voice. She wrapped herself in a heavy robe and ran down. The Captain stood by the piazza carefully unloading from his rickety wheelbarrow the huge wooden frames to protect the windows from the winter storms, a difficult matter for the little frail old man, so that he accompanied his efforts with panting gusts of breathlessness, and much gentle profanity.

"Captain—Why—what in the world—"

"First of October, Gay. I allus put the storm windows up come October first. Looks some like a big nor'easter headin' in. Think?"

He looked persistently away from her, down the peaceful smiling little valley, its profusion of harvest apples festooned with silver cobwebs. A nor'easter!

She flew into her clothes, down the hill and up the lane to Mrs. Andover's. "See here," she shouted; "come quickly. He's putting up the storm windows."

"My dear! He's not! He wouldn't dare!"

"You just tell him I said—"

"I shall tell him nothing. You're the administrator. You must come yourself."

Alice Andover sighed resignedly. "Well, I'll come then. If anybody thinks it's any pleasure to be the administrator for an old fool that tries to run good tenants out of his own houses—Well, come on, then."

Not one word passed between them as they made their way swiftly down the lane and up the hill slope.

"John," Alice Andover began with icy coldness, "will you kindly tell me who is the administrator of this estate?"

John removed a rusty nail from his mouth. "You are, Alice," he said, fitting it carefully into a hole in the frame, "but I'm the one that puts up the storm windows." Bang, bang, went the hammer as he spoke.

Alice Andover wavered uncertainly, flushed with anger, but clung to the shreds of her dignity. "John—John Christian Wallace—do you hear me?"

John banged another nail into the frame. "Yes, Alice, God help me, I hear you," he answered gently.

Gay looked around her, far and wide—at the shivery little forest of spruce and birch, whispering hope, at the orchard in its autumn gold below at the little cottage on its rocky perch a lookout over land and sea. She looked, and thought of Rand. A little thrill tugged at her heart. She could not go away.

"Isn't the cottage for sale? How much do you want for it? Perhaps I'll buy it."

"My dear! How lovely that is. The dear little cottage. How happy you are going to be—John," severely, "do you hear? She is going to buy the cottage."

The Captain smiled amiably, dropping his nails back into the bag. "Reckon you won't want these storm windows up then, will ye? Shall I store 'em in the cellar for ye?"

When Gay swung up the hill slope that afternoon, joyous in complete ownership, she saw Rand sitting on the piazza step. Her eyes were shining as she told him of her acquirement.

"You do love me," he said in a low voice, and kissed her.

Gay in her triumph, she led him, proudly, all over the cottage, exulting in its charms. It was hers, the home of her love, her cleft in the rocks, her bit of bare ocean, her rift of forest. Hers, all hers, and for love. She belonged to it, it belonged to her, and both alike for Rand.

"But don't you realize, Gay," he said soberly, when they sat quiet, side by side, at last, "that you will not be happy here for long? It is because it is temporary that it is dear to you. You love me, and you love this place, because you can get away from us whenever you like. Tying you down to it will be the end of everything."

"That is the beauty of it, Rand. I shall not be tied down. This is my home, but I shall lock my door and run away to the city whenever my mood, or my work, suggests it. I shall stay away as long as I like, and then come home again with joy."

"But when you cease to love me, you will cease to love this."

"But as long as I am free in my love, I shall never cease. It is only when love ties people down, restricts them, rules them, that they chafe at the chains.—Leave me free, Rand, as I shall leave you, and we shall go on and on all our lives, in love and happy."

Auntalmiry's pleasure in Gay's remaining was unalloyed, for she loved the girl, and Alice Andover had already asked her to remain in the Apple Tree during the winter, so she felt no disappointment on that score.

"It will be nice to have my little neighbor on top of the hill," she said pleasantly. "I like the Apple Tree better anyway. It was only for the Christmas party that I came up here."

—I always have a Christmas party for the island," she explained to Gay. Gay offered the use of the Lone Pine for the event, but Aunt Almiry shook her head. She said it would not seem like her party, if she had it anywhere else. She wanted it all hers. It was her only festivity during the year. "Who knows but this may be my last," she finished cheerfully.

When she had gone, Alice Andover asked Gay why she had not, as she requested, told her she could have no Christmas party.

"Why didn't you tell her yourself?" Gay retorted.

"Well," said the administrator cravenly, "I'd rather have you tell her. I think she would take it better from a stranger. I know her too well. You tell her, first chance you get. But tell her when I'm not there."

Every day after that, Auntalmiry talked of her Christmas party, under her plans, and it was not in Gay's kind heart to crush her hope with the sad word. So at last Alice Andover herself was driven to it, as they sat, all three, in Gay's living room before her cheery fire.

"Auntalmiry, John and I decided that you can't have any Christmas party this year."

Auntalmiry did not understand, answered with a vaguely troubled smile.

"What say, Alice? What say?"

"Auntalmiry, you hear what I say. You can't have a Christmas party. It costs too much, and it's too much work. Last year you nearly worked yourself into pneumonia, and nearly died, giving that Christmas party. And those little rascals don't need a party; they—"

"But I need it," the small voice was suddenly protesting, plaintive. "Alice, I need it. Seems like I just live for that Christmas party, from year to year. It's the only recreation I have—"

"Recreation, nonsense. Call it recreation working yourself to skin and bone to give half the island indigestion eating candy and nuts! Recreation to make bags, make presents, clutter up the house with trash.—You hear me now, you can't have it."

Auntalmiry was silenced. The little frozen smile settled more grimly upon her face, her little birdlike fingers twisted nervously together. Very soon she said she must go now, and went out, stumbling a little. She was very old. Gay and Alice Andover watched in silence as she made her way down the slope to the Apple Tree.

"Afford it," Alice Andover repeated bitterly, when the door closed behind her. "Afford it. Who do you suppose pays for her Christmas party? John does, I do, both of us pay, but mostly me, for I am the administrator. She hasn't any money. She hasn't had any money for twenty-five years. Afford it.—But it's not the money. It's the work. She begins three months ahead—Oh, she's at it already, working her fingers to the raw bone, getting ready for Christmas—I know her Sewing. Making things. Planning jokes, and presents.—And last year she was in bed three weeks afterward, and nearly died with pneumonia. She's too old. She works like a slave for it, gets thin, gets pale.—Why, the way she works for that Christmas party, she could almost earn her own living.—If she had to, she added apologetically. "Nobody wants her to earn a living, of course."

Much to Gay's surprise, she found that Rand was not always available. For one so indolent, on an island so idle, he found an inconceivable number of things with which to busy himself.

Wesley's Rule.
Do all the good you can,
By all the means you can,
In all the ways you can,
In all the places you can,
At all the times you can,
To all the people you can,
As long as ever you can.

EVERYDAY GOOD THINGS

A nice slice of baked ham makes a most satisfactory dinner meat. Any that is left may be used to the last shred. Take a slice of ham cut two to three inches thick. Cover with water and cook until tender. Remove the ham to a baking pan, spread with brown sugar and a teaspoonful of mustard. Add the water a little at a time, lift from the pan and bake until well browned.

Raisin Pie.—Line a pie plate with pastry and fill with the following: Beat the yolks of two eggs, add one cupful of sugar, the grated rind of a lemon with the juice, a pinch of salt and a cupful of chopped, steamed, seedless raisins. Add a bit of water or sweet fruit juice if the mixture seems too dry. Beat the whites of the eggs until stiff, add three tablespoonfuls of sugar and cover the baked pie with the meringue. Dot with bits of marshmallows and bake until a light brown.

Beans With Bacon.—Take one can of tender string beans, drain and season well. Cut up two slices of bacon into bits and fry brown. Remove the bacon and fry one small onion in the fat; when the onion is light brown, add the beans and when well heated add a bit of sharp vinegar to season. Serve hot with bacon and frankfurter sausages.

Carrot Pie.—Take one cupful of stewed carrot, one cupful of hot milk, one cupful of sugar, one-half teaspoonful of ginger, one teaspoonful of cinnamon, one-half teaspoonful of allspice, one egg well beaten and a pinch of salt. Bake in one crust. Use egg white for a meringue if desired.

Apple John.—Slice into a deep dish four tart apples. Sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon, dot with bits of butter. Pour over them a dumpling mixture, or a rather thin baking powder biscuit dough. Bake in a hot oven until well browned. Serve with cream and sugar.

Quick Potato Rolls.—Boil potatoes and press through a ricer. To one cupful of potato and the water in which they were cooked add one-half cupful of scalded milk, three tablespoonfuls of shortening, one-half teaspoonful of salt, one tablespoonful of sugar; when lukewarm stir in one cake of compressed yeast mixed with one-fourth of a cupful of lukewarm milk; add two and one-half cupfuls of flour, mix with a knife, cutting and mixing well. Let stand to rise, cut down once and after rising again make into smooth balls. Cover with melted fat and let rise again until very light. Now shape for finger rolls and when light bake in a quick oven.

Russian Jelly.—Soak two tablespoonfuls of gelatin in one-third cupful of water. Boil one cupful of sugar with two cupfuls of water for ten minutes. Add the gelatin and one-half cupful each of grape and orange juice. Strain, add the beaten whites of two eggs, beat until cold. Serve with whipped cream, sweetened and flavored.

Tasty Foods.
A nice supper dish when one wishes something hot and satisfying is:

Golden Fleece.
—Cut fine and melt in a saucepan one-half pound of rich cheese; when soft add one cupful of cream and a dash of cayenne; when thoroughly blended break in five eggs, cover for two minutes until the whites are set, remove the cover and beat the mass briskly with a spoon, adding salt to season. Serve on buttered toast or crackers.

Baked Smoked Fish.—Wrap a smoked whitefish in thick paper and place in the oven. Bake until the paper falls away, then serve on a hot platter.

English Rusk.—Set a sponge using a pint of milk, one-half a yeast cake well dissolved in one-half cupful of water and flour enough to make a thin batter. Beat well and let stand to rise in a warm place. When the sponge is light add two well beaten eggs, one scant cupful of sugar, one-half cupful of melted butter and not quite enough flour to make a mixture to knead. Let stand, and with the floured hands form into biscuits. Place in tins to rise. Bake in a moderate oven. Rub the tops of the biscuits when set to rise with melted lard or fat. After baking brush over with powdered sugar and water.

Date Dessert.—Beat two eggs well, add one-half cupful of sugar, four tablespoonfuls of flour with one teaspoonful of baking powder, one cupful each of dates and nutmeats finely cut. Bake in a well buttered pan and cut in finger sized pieces. Place in a glass jar and seal. Steam when wanted and serve with cream or an egg sauce. The pudding will keep for a long time.

TINLEY PARK

The installation of officers of the Royal Neighbors, Tuesday evening in the community hall was splendid. Mrs. Leila Moss took the office of Oracle, she was fair to look upon in white satin, so becoming. She received baskets of flowers and gifts. Clara Mayring was installing officer, she was dressed in pink voile and silk. Every one said how charming and her work said how charming, and her work was perfect. She rendered the ceremony with much dignity. She too received flowers and gifts.

Mrs. Wm. Funk, installing marshal in a beaded orchid frock, was not only ornamental, but showed plainly in her splendid work, done with ease and grace, her keen knowledge of both ritual and laws of the Order.

The Graces too, were attractive young women, well fitted for the offices assigned them. They were clad in white.

The program following the installation was in charge of Mrs. C. Neilsen. A duet was sung by the Misses Rice and Fierchow, was much enjoyed as was also the tableaux and recitations. The surprise of the evening was the three piece orchestra who furnished the music for the informal dancing. Every one said it was "peppy". Young Misses at the piano, Edwin Hug, saxophone and Wm. Stockman, drums. When we left at midnight they were still dancing sprightly.

Rudy Shasteen and wife will be the dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Combs Sr., Sunday.

The Garden Club met at the home of Mrs. J. C. Andres last week. It was an interesting meeting. Plans were made to give a party on February 13th, the husbands of the members being guests of honor. This will be in the nature of a valentine party. The Club members are looking forward to this first "husbands party", and it will be carried out as nice as it is possible to make it. After the business meeting, Mrs. Andres served delicious baked apples and cream and homemade cookies.

Great "Third Estate"

The "Third Estate" in French history was that part of the nation that belonged neither to the nobility nor the clergy; in other words, the common people who finally brought about the great revolution.

Sizes of Continents

Europe forms only about one-fourteenth of the land surface of the globe. Asia extends over nearly one-third of the land surface of the globe. Africa has about three times the area of Europe. North America is a little less than twice the size of Europe; and South America is a little more than 1 1/2 times the size of Europe.

Foiling the Scandalmongers

Put it out of the power of any one truly to report you not to be a sincere or a good man; let your practice give the lie; that is all very feasible, for, pray, who can hinder you from being just or sincere? To make all sure, you should resolve to live no longer than you can live honestly; for, in earnest, reason would rather you were nothing than a knave.—Marcus Aurelius.

Record Hailstones

Hailstones are sometimes bigger than oranges. A case has been described in which hailstones buried themselves to a depth of more than a half a yard in the soil of a meadow.

Bricks Used by Aviators

In the early days of the World war French aviators carried as part of their equipment a bag of bricks. They were carried in the hope that a pilot might be able to hurl a brick into the propeller of the enemy's airplane. Two German machines were thus brought down.

His word is his bond!

A "personal guarantee" means very little to you, unless you know the man who makes it.

Ninety per cent of the things bought for your home are selected by the lady member of the firm. She is the purchasing agent. Most men admit that she is a capable buyer, and the reason is this: She must be shown — convinced by proof — that an article is what she needs and is worth the price!

For that reason, she sees the advantage of dealing with a local merchant — a man whose "personal guarantee of satisfaction" means just what it says.

She knows that what he advertises in this paper is entitled to her consideration. Because she has confidence in her neighbor—the local dealer—she can safely invest the family funds in what he guarantees.
